

Online Learning

This session introduces you to the world of online learning available through the Internet. This includes the BBC and Open University Courses, plus courses for pleasure from art to zoology.

If you have any particular requirements, could you let us know in advance so we can see what is available.